

How to find your national Member ID Number

As each person registers with an Athletics NSW (ANSW) club, they are generated a personal National Member ID that is used as an identifier in the Revolutionise Sport platform. This number stays the same each year.

This National Member ID was sent to you in a confirmation email from your club when you registered with ANSW or when you were uploaded into the system if you are a dual member.

Please check your junk/spam folder if you do not believe you received it.

Every member was also sent an email from their club with login details.

You can follow the steps on that email to set a password and then login to access your personal details including your National Member ID.

Please check your junk/spam folder if you do not believe you received it.

If you have already set the login details, please visit your clubs registration portal from this list of clubs on this page:

<https://www.nswathletics.org.au/get-involved/register-with-a-club/>

Once you have clicked into your club you will notice on the top righthand corner a button that states "member login". Please login to view your personal details including your National Member ID.

If you're still having issues finding your National Member ID Number please email competitions@nswathletics.org.au

Kind Regards,
