Training Program

Week 1

The first week of any training program is crucial – here you start to build the blocks of perseverance, consistency, and confidence.

Physically and mentally, the first week of a program is usually the hardest.

But trust us, it gets easier from here!

- Monday Rest day
- Tuesday 15 min easy run + (1 min walk, 4 min run, 1 min walk, 4 min easy run) = Total 25 min
- Wednesday 16 min run (with 1 min walk/1 min @ 75% effort) + 4 min walk = Total 20 min
- Thursday Rest day
- Friday 20 min easy run
- Saturday Cross-train (swim/cycle/core workout etc.) = Total up to 30 min
- Sunday 15 min easy run + (1 min walk, 4 min run, 1 min walk, 4 min easy run) = Total 25 min

Awesome job – you've just finished your first week of training!

Week 2

Getting into this routine, with regular exercise and familiar stimuli applied to your body, is going to help you stay consistent. Your body will start adapting as you become a better runner.

Keep at it!

- Monday Rest day
- Tuesday 10 min easy run + (3 min @ 75% effort, 3 min jog recovery x 3) = Total 28 min
- Wednesday 30 min easy run
- Thursday Rest day
- Friday 15 min easy run + 5 min @ 75% effort + 10 min very easy run = Total 30 min
- Saturday Cross-train (swim/cycle/core workout) = Total up to 30 min
- Sunday 15 min easy run + 15 min of (1 min walk 4 min run x 3) = Total 30 min

You're halfway there. You can totally do this!

Week 3

Now entering halfway of the program, we're starting to get a little more serious with higher intensity workouts. This will help bring down your time for your 5K by getting used to running at faster speeds.

After getting through this week you should start to feel fitter and more confident about being able to cover the 5K distance. Set yourself a goal time that you'd like to complete the 5K in – write it down somewhere that you'll see it daily to keep yourself motivated.

- Monday Rest day
- Tuesday 3 x 5 min @ 75% effort with 5 min jog or walk recovery between reps = Total 30 min
- Wednesday 30 min very easy run
- Thursday Rest day
- Friday 20 min (5 x 2 min jog/2 min @ 5K run pace) = Total 20 min
- Saturday 35 min continuous easy run
- Sunday Rest day

Keep on track!

Week 4

Crunch time! This is the most challenging week of the program, but once you finish your 5K run, you'll look back and think 'Wow! I've come so far in just one month!'

- Monday 7 x 3 min @ 75% effort with 2 min very easy run or walk recovery = Total 33 min
- Tuesday 30 min very easy run
- Wednesday Rest day
- Thursday 4 x 1km @ 5K run pace with 2 min walk recovery between reps
- Friday 30 min continuous easy run
- Saturday Rest day
- Sunday Virtual Run Week begins!
If you're not completing your run today, take an easy 30 min run to keep up the movement.

Congratulations! You finished your training and are ready to run. Good luck!
